About the Coach:

Johnny Saccomanno is a highly motivated, organized and skilled instructor! He has a lot of experience and enthusiasm working with young people, mentoring and teaching the game of basketball! Johnny graduated from the U of U, coached several AAU Boys and Girls Basketball teams, grades 3 through 9, and has taught private lessons since 2001. He also worked several national and local Basketball Camps including U of U, Judge Memorial Catholic High School, Georgia Tech University, Marquette University, and UCLA. Johnny worked as an Assistant Coach at Judge Memorial Catholic High School and Westminster College, as well as Director of Basketball Operations at Weber State University. From 2007-2009, he was an Assistant Coach for The Utah Flash (NBA Development League). During his career, he helped organize, run and direct camps at Weber State University, Westminster College, and with The Utah Flash. Johnny currently works at The Winner School as the Co-Director & Co-Owner, skilled supervisor and teacher with kids, ages 2-15. He also started the Killer Bees Basketball Club in 2010, which has multiple teams of various age groups. As a coach, Johnny teaches players basketball skills, life skills, team skills, builds confidence and cultivates a love for the game!

This is Johnny's 14th consecutive SKILLS Camp!
